The Time of Troubles

The Time of Troubles will find its roots in bad education.

The people must know that government is not their mother.

George Washington said it well: "Government is like fire: a dangerous servant and a fearful master".

To be self-governing then it is critical in order to keep government under the control of the people.

This depends on education.

And then it further depends on Freedom of the Press, coupled with honest elections and proper proceedings in court.

In this as in so many other things there are two ways to learn: the Old Sage teaches this, noting that "experience is a hard master and a fool will learn by no other".

The cards are on the table and the bets have all been called.
Next will be the outcome and the settlement.

Shall Freedom be Preserved -- or shall tyranny prevail and oppression become our Way of Life?
